TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface

EU VALUES AND SOCIETAL CHANGE
The role of the Court of Justice of the European Union
Koen Lenaerts
1. The interaction between EU law and European societies
2. Constitutional and legislative consensus
   2.1 Constitutional consensus and social change
   2.2 In the absence of constitutional consensus
   2.3 Matters left unresolved in order to achieve legislative consensus
3. Striking the balance between unity and diversity
   3.1 Melloni: a uniform standard of fundamental rights protection
   3.2 Jeremy F: allowing room for national constitutional diversity
4. Concluding Remarks

LAW AND POLITICS
Marc Bossuyt
1. The Constitutional Court
2. The Court of Luxembourg
3. The Court of Strasbourg
4. Conclusion

LAW IS POLITICS AND OFTEN ALSO POLICY
Boudewijn Bouckaert
1. The autonomy of law in the face of government policy
2. Courts are involved in policy, even about crucial issues
3. Limiting policy or determining policy? The distinction is weakening
4. Conclusion

Maklu
Table of contents

Ecological restoration as the 21st century environmental paradigm 63

Is EU law capable of saving our declining nature?

Hendrik Schoukens

1. Introduction 63
2. International and European Policy Targets Regarding Ecological Restoration 67
   2.1 International Policy Targets 67
   2.2 EU Policy Targets 68
3. Legal obligations for ecological restoration within EU context: the law as driver for ecological restoration? 71
   3.1 Introduction 71
   3.2 EU Nature directives 72
      3.2.1 General objectives 72
      3.2.2 Natura 2000 Network 73
      3.2.3 Strict species protection 79
      3.2.4 General biodiversity protection 80
   3.3 Other relevant EU environmental legislation and policies 81
4. Conclusions and outlook 85

Protecting underwater cultural heritage in the Belgian part of the North Sea 87

A recent (r)evolution?

Thary Derudder

1. Introduction 87
2. International policy and legal instruments 89
3. The Belgian story 92
   3.1 Policy and practical issues 92
      3.1.1 The Belgian competence division concerning cultural heritage 92
   3.2 History of the legal protection of underwater cultural heritage in Belgium 95
      3.2.1 Cooperation agreement of 2004 95
      3.2.2 The Law Concerning the Finding and Protection of Wrecks of 2007 96
   3.3 The Law on the Protection of Cultural Heritage Underwater and its Royal Decree 96
      3.3.1 The scope of application 97
      3.3.2 Protective measures 98
      3.3.3 Property rights 101
   3.4 Protected wrecks 102
Table of Contents

3.5 Marine Spatial Planning
3.5.1 The Belgian Marine Spatial Planning Royal Decree
3.5.2 Underwater Cultural Heritage in the Marine Spatial Planning
4. Conclusion

Environmental Border Tax Adjustments (BTAs)

A Critical Analysis

Alice Pirlot
1. BTAs as the guarantee of a state’s taxing power
2. Environmental BTAs: the expression of a guarantee to preserve domestic environmental taxes?
3. Environmental BTAs: two trends in the legal scholarship
4. Towards environmental deregulation?
5. Conclusion

The Nexus Between Democracy and the Principle of Separation of Powers

A study on state practice

Cécile Vandewoude
1. Introduction
2. Methodology and findings
3. Conclusion

Judicial Policy vs. Freedom of (Judicial) Conscience

Friends or foes?

Bart Nelissen
1. Introduction and structure of the argument
2. Relevant statute- and case-law
3. Two nefarious tendencies
3.1 Judicialization of politics within a consociationalist setting
3.2 Bureaucratization of the judiciary
4. Judicial (freedom of) conscience: still a relevant legal category?
5. Concluding remarks
Table of Contents

Evolution of the State funding of religious and non-confessional organisations in Belgium

Between policy choices and legal requirements

Stéphanie Wattier

1. Introduction 159
2. Constitutional principles surrounding the relationship between the Church and the Belgian State 160
   2.1 Historical context 161
     2.1.1 Until 1795 162
     2.1.2 Years 1795-1815 162
     2.1.3 Years 1815-1830 163
2.2 The independence of Belgium (1830) and its new Constitution (1831) 163
   3.1 The seventies and the recognition of Islam: exploring new ground? 165
   3.2 How can Belgium reach more equality? 166
4. The constitutional recognition of non-confessional organisations 168
   4.1 First evolutions: the beginning of non-confessional organisations’ vindications 168
   4.2 The revision of the Constitution: a new paragraph for article 181 169
   4.3 Next years’ evolution in Belgium: toward a recognition of Buddhism, Hinduism, etc? 171
5. Conclusion 172

The interest to sue before the Belgian Council of State and the right of access to a court

A content analysis

Ann-Sophie Vandaele

1. Introduction 175
2. The access to the Council of State: context 176
   2.1 The right of access to a court: focus on art. 6.1. ECHR and the relevant case law by the ECtHR 176
2.2 The Council of State and the interest to sue 179
3. Content analysis of 967 cases of the Council of State between 1996-2012: Methodological considerations 181
4. Content analysis: first general results 183
   4.1 A ‘typical interest’ for a typical applicant 184
Table of contents

4.2 Two kinds of exceptions that can (or not) interfere with the typical interest
   4.2.1 ‘The Causal link between the decision and the disadvantage of the applicant’ 186
   4.2.2 ‘Satisfaction outside of the procedure before the Council of State’ 188

4.3 Combination of the previous findings:
   success rate of objections determined by (stereo)typical categorization 189
   4.3.1 The moral interest as a determining factor, or as a motivation tool? 191

5. Policy considerations
   5.1 The need for extensive preparation based on a realistic view of the situation 193
   5.2 The place of the Council of State within the Belgian Judicial system 194

6. Conclusion 195

The use of public policy in the enforcement of American punitive damages in the European Union 197

Status quaestionis

Cedric Vanleenhove

1. Introduction 197
2. Italy
   2.1 The Fimez ruling of the Italian Supreme Court 200
   2.2 Post-Fimez case law 201
3. Germany
   3.1 The Bundesgerichtshof’s decision in John Doe v. Smith 203
      3.1.1 The unenforceability of punitive damages 203
      3.1.2 The exception for the compensatory part of the punitive award 206
4. England
   4.1 Multiple damages 208
   4.2 Punitive damages 211
5. France
   5.1 The Supreme Court’s judgment in Fountaine Pajot 213
      5.1.1 Acceptance of punitive damages 213
      5.1.2 Limits on the acceptance of punitive damages 215
6. Spain
   6.1 The Spanish Supreme Court in Miller Import Corp. v. Alabastres Alfredo 218
      6.1.1 Public policy analysis 218
      6.1.2 Proportionality test 220
7. Conclusion 222
EU legislative competence and policy choices

The case of investor protection in the MiFID-framework

Olivier Eloot

1. Introduction 223
2. EU legislative competence in general 225
3. The ISD Rules of Conduct 227
4. The MiFID, MiFID II and the Tobacco-Test 231
5. EU legislative competence and the scope of the MiFID and MiFID II 233
6. Conclusion 235

---

The role of formal principles in legal reasoning

Joost Huysmans

1. Introduction 237
2. Definition of a formal principle 238
3. The process of legal adjudication 239
   3.1 Judicial application 240
   3.2 Judicial interpretation 245
4. Balancing as the main spring of judicial interpretation freedom 249
5. Formal principles as a limitation on judicial interpretation freedom 253
   5.1 Formal principles can preclude judicial interpretation 254
   5.2 Formal principles can limit judicial interpretation 255
   5.3 Formal principles can increase judicial interpretation freedom 257
6. Conclusion 258

---

The constraints of fundamental social rights on EU economic monitoring

A case-study of the right to social security in Article 12 of the European Social Charter and the Greek ‘austerity’ measures

Eleni De Becker

1. Introduction 261
2. EU economic monitoring, financial assistance and the influence on the member states’ social security systems 262
3. The right to social security in Article 12 ESC 267
   3.1 The obligation to endeavour to raise progressively the system of social security to a higher level (Article 12 (3) ESC) 268
Table of contents

3.2 Five collective complaints and budgetary reform 272
4. Other fundamental rights conflicts at international and national level 276
5. Conclusion 280

The protection of collectively agreed labour conditions under the Transfer of Undertakings Directive 283

Isabelle Van Hiel

1. Introduction 283
2. The history of the directive 284
3. The objectives of the directive 286
4. The interpretation of article 3 of the directive 288
5. The Court's jurisprudence 289
  5.1 On the modification of individually agreed labour conditions 289
  5.2 On the modification of collectively agreed labour conditions 291
6. Concluding remarks 295

The governance architecture of the right to strike in Europe 297

Pieter Pecinovsky

1. Introduction 297
2. Evolution of the right to strike in the Council of Europe 299
  2.1 The (Revised) European Social Charter 299
  2.2 The European Convention on Human Rights 300
3. Evolution of the right to strike in the European Union 302
  3.1 Viking and Laval 302
  3.2 Consequences 304
  3.3 Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union 305
4. Formal relation of the CJEU and the EU Charter of fundamental rights to the ECHR and case law of the ECtHR 307
5. Accession of the EU to the ECHR 309
  5.1 Reasons for accession 310
  5.2 Draft accession agreement 312
6. Conclusion 314
Table of Contents

Policy considerations concerning a family law statute for surrogate motherhood in Belgium

Liesbet Pluym

1. Introduction
   1.1 Surrogate motherhood as a (complex) phenomenon
   1.2 No legal regulation in Belgium
   1.3 Factors in deciding the direction of a possible policy
2. To regulate or not to regulate?
3. To prohibit or to permit?
4. Which kind of regulation?
   4.1 National regulation
   4.2 International regulation?
5. Conclusion

The urban information duty and the sale of immovable goods

Jennifer Callebaut

1. Introduction
2. The Belgian civil code
3. Statutory information about immovables
4. Urban information
   4.1 Evolution
   4.2 Urban information in Flanders
   4.3 Subjective solemn sale contracts
      4.3.1 Purpose of the subjective solemn sale
      4.3.2 Antwerp Court of Appeal – 14 October 2013
5. Policy in practice, in judgments and in legal doctrine

Policy considerations and third-party liability of certifiers

Jan De Bruyne

1. Policy considerations and outline
2. Classification societies, credit rating agencies and auditors as ‘certifiers’
   2.1 ‘Certifiers’ – preliminary considerations
   2.2 Classification societies – ‘certifiers’ in maritime safety
   2.3 Auditors and credit rating agencies – ‘certifiers’ in capital-markets
3. Policy considerations & EU legislation on third-party liability of certifiers
3.1 EU legislation on certifiers 351
3.2 Auditors and EU legislation 352
3.3 Credit rating agencies and EU legislation 353
3.4 Policy considerations & capital-market certifiers – a comparative evaluation 354
3.5 Classification societies and EU legislation 357

4. Policy considerations in case law on the third-party liability of certifiers 358
4.1 Liability of classification societies – the case of the Nicolas H 358
4.2 Policy considerations and (third-party) liability of credit rating agencies 361
   4.2.1 Third-party liability of credit rating agencies – preliminary considerations 361
   4.2.2 Credit ratings as mere recommendations to purchase, hold or sell securities? 362
   4.2.3 Restrictions on credit ratings as protected speech 363
   4.2.4 Actual malice standard 364
   4.2.5 Credit ratings as matter of private or public concern 365
   4.2.6 Conflicts of interest & First Amendment protection 367

5. Concluding remarks 370